

Editor — I suggest that the tax returns of other individuals completed by the tax lawyers who did President Nixon's returns be investigated. Perhaps the money in the U. S. treasury would be immensely increased.

I work for the Social Security Administration and I was aghast to read that no FICA taxes were reported for his maid and gardener. Surely any reputable tax lawyer is aware of this aspect of the law.

I hope IRS assesses the penalty and interest due because of this violation.
