

Julie and David to Meet Press

Washington

Julie and David Eisenhower will have what's described as a joint "no holds barred" news conference today in the East Garden of the White House, a spokesman said yesterday.

The young Eisenhowers will meet the press at 9 a.m. (PDT) and are expected to be closely questioned about President Nixon's Watergate problems and calls for his resignation and impeachment.

Helen McCain Smith, the First Lady's press secretary, said that there had been requests for a reaction of Julie to the latest Watergate developments since the President released the 1300-page "blue book" of edited Presidential transcripts.

The news conference will be open for television coverage, according to Mrs. Smith.

Julie has been one of her father's most ardent defenders since the Watergate scandal overtook the White House and she has been out in front for many months doing most of the talking for the female side of the family.
