A Curious Ad

Baltimore

A job for an "expletive deleter" was offered in a classified ad yesterday in the Baltimore Sunpapers.

"Sensitive position preparing official documents for publication," the ad said. "Extensive vocabulary required; retired drill instructor preferred. High pay and good benefits, including executive clemency."

The ad listed the telephone number of the White House, where a telephone operator questioned about it said, "We're aware of it. We've had a number of calls."
