

NYTimes • JUN 15 1974
Colson's Irony

To the Editor:

What irony in the confession of Nixon's lieutenant Charles Colson, lately come to religion. It was Whitaker Chambers, another self-confessed wrongdoer and new religionist, who was used by the then-Senator Nixon to convict Alger Hiss. One must wonder whether Colson will do unto Richard Nixon as Chambers did unto Alger Hiss.

SYLVIA K. EISEN

Great Neck, L. I., June 4, 1974