Ex-Aide Going to Prison in a Week

olson Laments Lesson Loss

By Lee Byrd Associated Press

The greatest peril of Watergate. savs prison-bound Charles Wendell Colson, is that, "We'll purge a few people and then we'll say, all the rest of us are saved."

"Well . . . all the rest of the country isn't saved by just exiling a few Nixon men," he declared.

Once one of the closest of the Nixon men, Colson faces, by his terminology, the longest exile yet decreed. He reflected upon Watergate and other issues in an interview just a week before he is to surrender himself for at least a year's imprisonment for ob- involvement in the Watergate structing justice.

"We've got to have several things happen out of Water-gate if the country is to be better for it," Colson said. One better he get in a side of the being less tempted to abuse Nixon felt insprisoned their public trust."

Foremost in that area, ne said, is "the need for public fi-nancing of political cam-paigns. I mean I think it's just ludicrous ... you know, so many abuses have been re-vealed that if we continue just to apply Band-Aids the patient's gonna die, the country's Colson said the C gonna hemmorhage for this. We've got to get rid of the sys-executive oversight of the Central Intelligence Agency.

He confirmed that he had raised the issue of the CIA's involvement in the Watergate and Ellsberg break-ins with private detective, Richard L.

Colson, as yet, does not know where he will be confined. He likely will be kept

But Colson complained that several rather sensational ashas to be getting rid of the anger and hatred and divisiveness that Watergate has created and divisiveness that Watergate has created at the photostation of John D. Ehrom a discussion aimed appear before the merely at exploring "every" peachment panel. "The second thing is we need some serious structural reforms in the political process and in the governmental process . . . changes that will in the future anyone who tries to interfere with the rights of against the President—the late a criminal law. There had process . . . changes that will suggested—that President That prospect was spurred by this."

ers at the White House.

explained, "is that I think of Nixon. lot of people around the President were people with ties into the military and the intelligence outs blightness to We've got to get rid of the system of private finance."

Along with public financing of campaigns, said Colson, another prime objective should be greater congressional and while, he said, a report on the greater that I have been part.

near the capital for some time, however, since he will be a witness at the "plumbers" trial plying this particular set of the D. Phyliphone and for the the chekry stion of the or his surprise courtroom state threatened by CIA sympathi- ment that his felonious attempt to smear Daniel Ellsberg was "What I was saying," Colson urged repeatedly by Mr.

Some of Mr. Nixon's adversaries see Colson as a more impressive witness than ligence establishment."

Colson said the CIA was closer to Mr. Nixon and also because he did not barter his subject being readied by Sen.

Howard H. Baker Jr. (RTenn.) "is going to raise an awful lot of questions."

Thave always told the presecutors that I have been part of an effort to discredit Ellsberg," he said. "As I said to the court... that was something I could in conscience plead to and that I felt was a useful plea."

of John D. Ehrlichman and facts to the obstruction of jusothers and almost surely will appear before the House im
the future anyone who tries