

Associated Press

the Treasury in 1972, John B. Connally made repeated calls to two top Justice Department chiefs about a criminal in-vestigation of his friend Jake Jacobsen, the Senate Watel quire about the status of an tiry that connaity accepted investigation into Jacobsen's role in a Texas savings-and-loan fraud, the panel said. In a related matter, the Watergate committee yester-

Criminal Division, Henry E. Petersen, as saying he was up-set by the number of calls about Jacobsen. Petersen was quoted as saying that some-one at the White House also inquired about the matter. Despite the high-level concern, Jacobsen was indicted

Associated Press While he was Secretary of and conspiracy.

guilty to a bribery charge in the milk-fund affair. Jacobsen vestigation of his friend Jake Jacobsen, the Senate Wate-gate committee said. Connally called Attorney General John N. Mitchell and later called Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst to in-quire about the status of an investigation into Jacobsen's loan fraud, the panel said. The committee discussed Connally's calls about Jacob-from former Nixon aide H. R. mechanics set up for them to Connally denied under oath that he discussed dairy-industry contributions with the dairymen, the President, "or with anyone else." Haldeman testified, however, that he re-called "listening to Mr. Con-nally on the subject of dairy contributions."

Haldeman testified:

"The point Mr. Connally made to me was, as I recall it, simply that their dairy people want to make a contribution and they had been trying to work with the campaign peosen in a footnote to its final report. It quoted the head of the Criminal Division and the head of the