

Nixon's Return-- Public Welcome

El Toro, Orange county

Richard Nixon's return to California as a private citizen today will be a public event, at his request.

For the first time, the El Toro Marine Corps air station, where Mr. Nixon's jet flights from Washington land on his way to his home at San Clemente, will admit the general public to see him arrive. Mr. Nixon is due here at noon today.

It will be Mr. Nixon's first public appearance as an ex-president. His resignation is to formally take effect while his plane is between Washington and California.
