A Bar Panel Urges Krogh

Be Suspended

Seattle

A disciplinary panel of the Washington Bar Association recommended yesterday that former White House aide Egil Krogh be suspended from the practice of law for nine months for his activities in the "Plumbers" unit.

The recommendation followed two days of hearings before the panel, including testimony by Krogh, 34.

The panel's recommendation will be submitted to the board of the state Bar Association and, if approved, goes to the state Supreme Court for a final decision.

The panel held the wrongdoing could be attributed to inexperience, youth and the unusual atmosphere in the White House at the time.
