'Regret, Pain, Anguish'

Richard Nixon's statement after be-ing pardoned by President Ford:

have been informed that President Ford has granted me a full and absolute pardon for any charges which might be brought against me I for actions taken during the time I was President of the United States. In accepting this pardon, I hope that his compassionate act will contribute to lifting the burden of Watergate from our country. Here in California, my perspective on Watergate is quite different than it was while I was embattled in the in was write I was empatted in the midst of the controversy, and while I was still subject to the unrelent-ing daily demands of the Presidency itself.

Looking back on what is still in my mind a complex and confusing maze of events, decisions, pressures and personalities, one thing I can see clearly now is that I was wrong in not acting more decisively and more forthrightly in dealing with Watergate, particularly when it reached the stage of judicial proceedings and grew from a political scandal into a national tragedy.

No words can describe the depth of my regret and pain at the anguish my mistakes over Watergate have caused the nation and the Presidency -a nation I so deeply love, and an institution I so greatly respect.

I know that many fair-minded people believe that my motivations and actions in the Watergate affair were intentionally self-serving and illegal. I now understand how my own mis-takes and misjudgments have contribtakes and misjudgments have contrib-uted to that belief and seemed to sup-port it. This burden is the heaviest one of all to bear. That the way I tried to deal with Watergate was the wrong way is a burden I shall bear for every day of the life that is left to me the life that is left to me.
