

A Hand for Nixon

UPI Telephoto

Richard Nixon shook hands with a fellow patient in Long Beach Memorial Hospital yesterday as the former president was being wheeled to take more tests for his phlebitis and blood clot. Earlier, Mr. Nixon's physician said the ex-President's condition would prevent him from traveling for at least a month, maybe longer, thus ruling out any early Nixon testimony in the Watergate coverup trial scheduled to begin today. Details on Page 9.