CAMPAIGN FUND LAW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (UPI) — A loophole in the new cam-paign finance law permits those who made and received illegal campaign contributions during the 1972 Congressional races to avoid prosecution, a spokes-man for the Watergate prosecu-tors said today. It also puts pressure on the special Watergate prosecutor, Henry S. Ruth, to speed indict-ments for campaign contributions to avoid prosecution, a spokes-man for the Watergate prosecu-tors said today. It also puts pressure on the special Watergate prosecutor, Henry S. Ruth, to speed indict-ments for campaign contribu-tions for criminal violations those who made or received illegal campaign contributions before Jan. 1, 1972, cannot be indicted once the law goes into effet Jan. 1. This means the Justice Dev partment and the special prose-cutor's office will have to act within six weeks to indict those who made or received illegal contributions between January and April, 1972.

NYTimes

The Federal Election Cam-SETS 3-YEAR LIMIT Ford Oct. 16, retroactively

NOV 9 1974