

Notes on People*Nixon Servants Off U.S. Payroll*

The valet and maid long in service to the family of Richard M. Nixon have not been on the Federal Government payroll since Oct. 5, it was announced yesterday. The couple, Manolo and Fina Sanchez, had been listed on the payroll of the National Park Service at annual salaries of $13,000 and $8,000 respectively. The Sanchezes, now listed "on leave without pay," are in that status because of some Government benefits to which they are entitled. Last month it was disclosed that the two servants were being paid with public funds even though they left the White House Aug. 9, which resulted in criticism during a Senate appropriations subcommittee's consideration—and reduction—of a requested $850,000 in transition funds for the former President.

The White House said the Sanchezes were remaining on Mr. Nixon's personal staff in San Clemente, Calif., and that their salaries were being paid from the former President's personal funds.

●
"The Unwanted" is the name of a first novel