Pleads Guilty on F

HARRY S. DENT SR. "more the victim"

By Timothy S. Robinson Washington Post Staff Writer

Harry S. Dent Sr., a South that was funneled to White Carolina lawyer who became House-approved candidates in former President Nixon's top congressional elections political strategist during Nixon's first term, pleaded guilty yesterday to aiding and abetting an illegal fund-raising operation organized by the White House in 1970. Dent, 44, was placed on unsupervised probation for one month by U.S. District Chief Judge George L. Hart Jr., who characterized Dent as "more of the victim than the perpe-trator" of the misdemeanor trator" of the misdemeanor charge to which Dent pleaded Best, called an "ancient, outguilty. The illegal campaign moded, confusing and reraised more than $3 million year.

The sentence was imposed after Dent read a statement to the judge in which he said that the operation was "under the direction of the President of the United States . . . and I believed, and in fact was told, that the program was legal."

Dent, obviously bitter at the Watergate special prosecutor's office for bringing the charges

See DENT, A17, Col. 1

DENT, From A1

pealed law," said afterwards that he had entered the guilty plea be-ington, D.C., in the current atmosphere," Dent told reporters after sentencing. He said also that prosecutors had indicated by the result my part." cated they would charge him with a felony in connection with the fund-raising operation and bring him to trial with o mor White House aide because it did not have a com-(campaign-financing) H.R. (Bob) Halueman it Dent interest and did not enter a plea to the as required by law. H.R. (Bob) Haldeman if Dent mittee charman or treasurer, actual operating details, Dent did not enter a plea to the as required by law.

Dent, who practices law in been charged in connection with the operation.

Columbia, S.C., said he thought the fund-raising operation that came to be known as the connection with the operation.

When asked yesterday by a story that came to be known as the connection with the connection of the connection with the connection w thought the fund-raising operation that came to be known as "Operation Townhouse" was a legitimate operation when it was set up by the White House. Investigators have said the fund was set up by Haldeman, with Jack A. Gleason detailed from Dent's White House staff to implement the program and designate the congressional campaign committees that were to "When asked yesterday by Judge Hart how the fund worked, Dent gave the follow with a treasurer and chairman to handle that money, prosecutors have said. "I did not know about that part which you might say went wrong," Dent added. His attorney, Best, said that Kalmbach and Gleason also would testify, if necessary, that Dent did not know the particulars of the operation. Basically, Best told Hart, Dent would recommend that get the money.

The operation was illegal said.

had entered the guilty plea because he did not feel he could get a fair trial in what he called an atmosphere of "Watergate infestation" here.

"I honestly did not feel I could get a fair trial in Washington, D.C., in the current atmosphere," Dent told reporters after sentencing. He said also that prosecutors had indicated they would also that guilty occurred is that it finally occurred is that it finally didn't work that way." He said several large checks came in from one contributor and dent Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert W. Kalmbach, pleaded guilty to raising money for the project and is serving a jail term of 6 to 18 months. Haldeman has not directly to candidates. According to the law in effect at the control of the project and is months. Haldeman has not directly to candidates. According to the law in effect at the control of the project is that it finally didn't work that way." He said several large checks came in from one contributor and each trial in wash.

Thought the project is that it finally didn't work that way." He said several large checks came in from one contributor and each trial in wash.

The honestly felt I did nothed in generation and is await.

The honestly felt I did nothed and abetting the ing work, that way." He said several large checks came in from one contributor and each not open proper.

Thought the project is that it finally didn't work that way." He said several large checks came in from one contributor and each project a nate the congressional cam-tions. Kalmbach would then paign committees that were to get the money.

The operation was illegal and appropriate candidate, Dent money be sent to a certain

Professing ignorance on the

with the operation.

When asked yesterday by udge Hart how the fund

When asked yesterday by udge Hart how the fund

With a treasurer and chairman state and the next contact he like he's a victim instead of a perpertrator," a point Hart reiterated when he imposed the sentence.

In his two-page statement to the judge, Dent said he was prepared to face my responsibility. I am a Republican and conservative because I believe in individual freedom and with that individual responsibility. I should have avoided any involvement with anything that might be subject to question even when questioned four years after the event."

Dent expressed concern that for the rest of his life "and into the history books my name will be incorrectly connected with Watergate, although obviously I have no involvement in that matter"

Heral counsel of the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from that post last weeking from the National Republican Committee, resigning from the National Republican Committee (National Republican Committee).

Dent, who could have been sentenced to one year in jail and fined $1,000, described himself as "the one full-time political man at the White political man at the White House for President Nixon's first four years."

He is most prominently known as the chief architect of the Nixon administration's "Southern strategy." He came to the White House after being chief aide to Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.)), for more than 10 years and left the White House in early 1973.

Most recently, he was general counsel of the National volvement in that matter."

"My greatest punishment," Dent told the judge, "is that—

Nixon administration to gain ranging from a minimum of support for Republicans in traditionally Southern Demo 20 years.

would have would be a call a bad footnote in history and reference of the donation. At that point, Hart broke in forever."

Dent, who could have been to say, "You make it sound like height and its summer of the donation of issues supported by prominent Southern political leaders.

Dent is the third prominent individual charged by the Watergate special prosecutor's office to escape being jailed after pleading guilty or being convicted for a crime.

Judge Hart placed Attorney General Richard Kleindienst on one month's unsupervised probation for his guilty plea to a controversial misdemeanor charge in con-nection with his Senate confirmation hearings.

U.S. District Court Judge Barrington D. Parker placed former California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke on probation after his conviction of perjury dur-ing those same Kleindienst confirmation hearings.

Other Watergate-related fig-ures have received jail terms