James W. McCord Jr., former security chief for President Nixon's 1972 re-election committee, yesterday lost another attempt to avoid going to jail for his part in the Watergate burglary.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica denied McCord's request for a hearing on evidence that he allegedly has uncovered.

Sirica said any such material should be presented to the Supreme Court, which has denied McCord bail but taken no action on his motion for a review of his case.

"This is not right," McCord told reporters after Sirica ruled. "He's denying the truth to me and to the American people."

McCord is to begin serving a one-to-five-year sentence next Friday.
