

Ehrlichman Job and Home Hunt Reported

Santa Fe, N.M.

Convicted Watergate conspirator John D. Ehrlichman is looking for work and a place to live in New Mexico.

The former presidential aide, who has grown a beard, has been staying with friends and has been seen at several restaurants in the city, the Santa Fe New Mexican reported.

The newspaper said Ehrlichman hopes to find work in "public service."

Ehrlichman, whose offer to work as a land attorney was rejected last month by the Indians of eight northern New Mexico pueblos, has offered to perform public service work as "personal penance" in lieu of a prison term.

United Press