

United Press International

IN SANTA FE—John D. Ehrlichman, former aide to President Nixon who was convicted in the Watergate cover-up conspiracy, walks along a road in Santa Fe, N.M. where he reportedly was looking for work that would “contribute to the well-being of others.” Now sporting a beard, Ehrlichman reportedly was staying with friends.