WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The house of Senator Howard H. Baker Jr., a member of the Senate intelligence committee, was broken into and ransacked last night, but the burglars apparently ignored jewelry, gold coins, camera equipment and other valuables, according to members of the Senator's staff.

The break-in occurred between 4 P.M. yesterday and 9 A.M. today, while Mr. Baker, a Republican, and his family were at their home in Huntsville, Tenn. The burglars broke into a safe with an ax but apparently stole nothing.

Mr. Baker, according to Ronald McMahon, his press aide, occasionally takes home secret documents for study but none were in the home last night. Mr. Baker was prominent on the Senate Watergate committee as well as in the current inquiry into intelligence agencies.
