Ruth Criticizes Timing and Terms of Nixon Pardon

By JOHN M. CWDSON Specialto The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Oct. Henry S. Ruth, the former special Watergate prosecutor, strongly criticized today the timing and the unconditional terms of the pardon for any criminal activities granted former President Richard M. Nixon last year by President Ford.

Mr. Ruth, who resigned from the special prosecutor's post last week, said he considered "atrocious" Mr. Ford's decision to pardon the former President less than a month before some of Mr. Nixon's top White house and campaign aides were scheduled to go on trial in the Watergate cover-up case.

But he conceded that the controversial action by Mr. Ford had not affected the outcome of the cover-up trial, in which the four principal defendants, H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell and Robert C. Mardian, were ny that Mr. Nixon gave under oath last June concerning varifound guilty.

S. Ruth Jr. discussing Watergate and its aftermath on "Face the Nation" yesterday.

ous aspects of the Watergate on the first 28 months of the supplied by Mr. Nixon's re-elec-office's investigation noted that "a few cases' in the area of the Waterrate scandals."

on's close friend.

Mr. Ruth dismissed the suggestion that he might personally be at fault for the failure to unravel those and other Watergate-related mysteries, but he said he had realized when he took the special prosecutor's job last year that "anybody around when investigations had to be closed was going to be blamad for not solving them."

"My goodness." he continued on the said, after "it became clear that a cover-up" of the responsibility for the break-in "was going on that involved a great number of people." The prosecutors decided the cover-up represented the "best base" for obtaining convictions, he said.

Part of the cover-up investigation, he disclosed, involved the withholding by officials of the Central Intelligence Agency.

previous Watergate. convic-ing capture there by the police of five burglars who carried issued last week bugging equipment and funds office's investigation noted that "a few cases" in the area of campaign financing remained to be compared, but that several others to major interest had been abandoned after decisions were made to bring no charges.

Erasure and Hughes Money

They included inquiries into an apparently deliberate erasure of part of a keeyyq corded conversation between Mr. Nixon and Mr. B3lztman, and the circumstances surrounding a $100,000 cash payment from Howard R. Hughes to Charles G. Rebozo, Mr. Nixon's close friend.

Mr. Ruth dismissed the sug-

the withholding by officials of the Central Intelligence Agency

Testimony by Nixon

Mr. Ruth added that he had hoped that such a pardon, which he had concluded from Mr. Ford's public statements was "inevitable," would have been "conditioned on an admission of some kind of guilt" by Mr. Nixon over his alleged role in the Watergate cover-up. In an interview on the CBS television program "Face the Nation," Mr. Ruth, the third lawyer to hold the special prosecutor's position since the Nation," Mr. Ruth, the third office was created in May, 1973, declined to characterize directly the grand jury testimo
Testimony by Nixon

Scandal.

But he did point out what that in the period since the watergate solving them."

"My goodness," he continued, "our staff labored long and hard at these investigations. As you know, in a lot of situal by Watergate prosecutors and tions, people just don't talk. It wasn't as though we had a lot of cooperating witnesses in any of these matters walking in any of these matters walking into our office asking to be questioned."

Mr. Ruth also disclosed that the witholding by officials of the Central Intelligence Agency of relevant information about some of those involved in plan-intent at these investigations. As you know, in a lot of situal by Watergate prosecutors and that in the period since the direction was taken, on a visit As you know, in a lot of situal that in the period since the watergate gate break-in who had served as C.I.A. operators or employes. There have been some calls in cour office asking to be questioned."

Mr. Ruth also disclosed that these investigations. The watergate prosecutors of the Central Intelligence Agency of relevant information about some of those involved in plan-ining and executing the Watergate as C.I.A. operators or employes. There have been some calls in cour office asking to be questioned."

Mr. Ruth also disclosed that the Watergate prosecutors of the watergate prosecutors of a permanent special prosecutors had been unable to establish of Charles F. Ruff, will remain in operation as an independent of the Watergate pr