

11 Nov 75

Richard Nixon attended a pageant in Camp Pendleton, California, marking the 200th birthday of the Marine Corps, saying afterwards to a television reporter "I though it was a splendid ceremony, making us proud of the Marine Corps, which has helped to make us the leading free nation in the world today."

[Complete.]