

from Herb Caen's column:

Herb Caen SFChronicle FEB 16 1976

THE SOCIAL RAMBLE: Yup, that was Ron Ziegler with Linda Hale McIntosh and other pals at Trader Vic's. Ronnie is now "managing director of industrial services" for the engineering firm of Syska and Hennessy, which beats going back to running a "Jungle Ride" boat at Disneyland. I guess . . . During dinner at the Alfred Fromms' in foggy Sea Cliff Thurn Baron Philippe Rothschild revered names in he had comes to an all-Wagner concert impresario hadn't suddenly cut caused 20 rehearsals to nine. Kurt displayed a pair of cufflinks Birgit sent him to show she wasn't angry.

★ ★ ★

BLOODLESS: Part of a bicentennial message by Gov. Richard Lamm of Colo., forwarded by Marjorie Miller: "It was truly a bicentennial reinforcement that our system could peacefully get rid of abusers of power, be it from King George or Richard Nixon." And so much for the shot heard 'round the world.