PANEL BARS INOUIRY INTO NIXON PARDON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)

A House Judiciary subcommittee decided today not to conduct a further inquiry into President Ford's pardon of Richard M. Nixon.

The Criminal Justice Subcommittee voted 4 to 3 to table a motion by Representative Elizabeth Holtzman, Democrat of Brooklyn, which would have allowed the panel's staff to interview Philip W. Buchen, Mr. Ford's counsel; Gen. Alexander M. Haig, Mr. Nixon's chief of staff, and "other appropriate persons" regarding the Presidential pardon.

Mr. Nixon resigned on Aug. 9 and was pardoned for his alleged involvement in the Watergate scandal on Sept. 8, 1974. "If the article is true, she said, "this report indicates that President Ford, contrary to his representation to the American public and to the House Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, was not candid about the facts urrounding his decision to saue the pardon."

Mr. Nixon resigned on Aug. 9 and was pardoned for his alleged involvement in the Watergate scandal on Sept. 8, 1974.

The article is true, she said, "this report indicates that representation to the American public and to the House Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, was not candid about the facts urrounding his decision to saue the pardon."

Mr. Nixon resigned on Aug. 9 and was pardoned for his alleged involvement in the Watergate scandal on Sept. 8, 1974.