Nixon in China

KWEILIN, China—Fromer President Richard Nixon ignored American reporters who met him at the airport here and asked his reaction to criticism of his trip by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Airz.) and others. Large crowds lined the streets of Kweilin, 1,100 miles south of Peking when the Nixon party drove past.

Portuguese Accord

LISBON—The Armed Forces Movement signed a formal agreement with the five major political parties confirming the planned switch from military rule to parliamentary democracy. Parliamentary elections are set for April 25 and the vote for president for June 25.
