Kissinger

Warns on Cuba Again

ATLANTA, March 6 (UPI) —Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today issued another sharp warning to Cuba and the Soviet Union that the United States "will not accept any further Cuban military adventures" in other parts of the world.

Seated next to former Secretary of State Dean Rusk at a news conference here, Kissinger also warned that "the Soviet Union must consider that any policy of relaxed tensions is incompatible with the massive introduction of armaments and continued encouragement of this kind of turmoil."

Kissinger remarks were in response to questions about the position of the United States regarding the activity of Cuban forces in Angola and the possibility that Cuba might assist rebel forces opposing the white government of Rhodesia.

Kissinger said the position of the United States is to accept any outcome that comes from decisions by African states and by the Organization of African Unity. He urged the government of Rhodesia to "show flexibility" in negotiations with groups seeking more black control in that country.

Kissinger said Rhodesia must keep in mind "that the time for settlement is now running out."

But he added, "we do not accept the proposition that Cuba has the right to intervene in this country."

Kissinger was asked what options the United States had with respect to the actions of the Soviet Union and Cuba in Africa.

Postwar history has shown, he said, that U.S. action in such circumstances does not have to be military. Any specific reaction would depend on the circumstances, he said, adding that it would not be appropriate to discuss this in advance. Kissinger's appearance here was one of a series he has made across the country in recent months.

Kissinger said he did not agree with the statement by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) that former President Nixon might have broken the law by discussing foreign affairs with leaders of China on his recent trip.

He emphasized that Nixon did not advise the administration of his plans to go to China until just before it was publicly announced. He said that in fact the State Department was advised of the Nixon trip by Chinese representatives before Nixon informed the administration.

He said that since no one in the administration has had a chance to speak with Chairman Mao Tse-tung or the present Chinese premier since the death of Chou En-lai "it is of course of interest to us" what these leaders told Nixon.

But Kissinger said, "On the whole, if foreign governments wish to communicate with us, they should do it through established channels."
