

Carl Bernstein Weds

New York

The media marriage of the year took place yesterday.

Carl Bernstein, co-author with Bob Woodward of "All the President's Men" and "The Final Days," was wed to Nora Ephron, an editor and media columnist for Esquire magazine.

Bernstein, 32, and Ephron 34, celebrated their wedding quietly with a few friends in a midtown Manhattan hotel with champagne and cake. It was the second marriage for each.

They were wed by Surrogate Court Judge Millard Midonick in Manhattan, attended by a few close friends.

Bernstein and Woodward, reporters for the Washington Post, have been in New York promoting "The Final Days," their revealing book about the last days of the Nixon administration.

Newsday
