

Print 6/13/76

The Parlor

WXPost JUN 13 1976

And the Payroll

By Maxine Cheshire

When the Elizabeth Ray story broke, some of the angriest women on Capitol Hill were those who work in the House beauty parlor. They've been trying to get Rep. Wayne Hays to put them on the federal payroll for years.

Men who work in the House barber shop are government employees who average $12,000-to-$15,000 a year and get retirement and health benefits.

Because the ladies' side is run as a private profit-making concession, beauticians average $7,000-to-$9,000 a year and get no fringe benefits. If

VIP

Hays is forced out of the chairmanship of the House Administration Committee, the hairdressers say they expect speedy legislative redress.

Potpourri

Those nude photos that White House photographer David Kennerly took of Elizabeth Ray could be worth $25,000 (the figure Hustler magazine offered her to pose) or even more with Kennerly's credit line. But she has all the prints and all the negatives—a gift from Kennerly—stored away in a box with similar photos made by other less professional admirers...Jimmy Carter's 77-year-old mother, "Miss Lillian," says she isn't going to the Democratic Convention, but she is already lining up a date for the Inaugural Balls next January...

State Department officials won't say it for attribution, but privately some are fretting that Shirley Temple Black may have sexist troubles in her new job as U. S. Chief of Protocol. One source familiar with the duties said last week that "the Arabs in particular" may not want to deal with a woman and it is anticipated that there could be occasions when she will have to let a male deputy take charge...Jacqueline Onassis has invited the Metropolitan Museum's Karl Katz back to Skorpios this summer...Former President Richard M. Nixon decided he wanted to see "All The President's Men" and asked a friend in the movie industry to get him a print for a private showing...

The Pisces Club has decided against opening any rooms to the public and will utilize current unfinished space for a private banquet room where members can give dinners for up to 50 people...Among the non-political trivia to come back from the California primary was a report that Doris Day has been talking about manufacturing health food for dogs...The movie "Midway" won't be released until Friday, but President Ford asked for a special print and saw it in April...Maria Shriver, who is perhaps the most beautiful of the younger generation Kennedys, and also one of the brightest, got a summer job that requires neither brains nor looks. She is shucking oysters at the new Foundry restaurant in Georgetown.

Copyright, 1976, The Washington Post and The Los Angeles Times Syndicate
