

Pat Nixon's Fight

ON LEAVING the hospital in Long Beach last Friday to go home to San Clemente, Pat Nixon spoke of her gratefulness for expressions of concern, encouragement and friendship that had come from around the world. No one who has admired Mrs. Nixon's performance of the role of First Lady could be surprised at the abundance of good wishes for her. We are delighted to learn that she is feeling fine, has regained her ability to walk and is expected in three or four months' time to recover fully from the effects of her stroke. As her family has said of her, she is a fighter, and it is good to know that she is winning her fight.
