

SF Examiner
Briefings for Ford, Nixon

MAY 1 1977

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidents Gerald Ford and Richard Nixon are receiving regular briefings on secret relationships between the United States and foreign nations, President Carter said.

Carter made the disclosure in question-and-answer session Friday with the board of directors of the Radio Television News Directors Association.

Carter told the group that the two former presidents were receiving briefings from the State Department and the CIA .