Statement on Kennedy Book Is Denied by Seigenthaler

Is Defined by Sergentilater In an article in The New York Times Monday about the dispute between Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Look magazine over the serialization of William Manchester's "The Death of a President," it was reported that John Seigenthaler, an adviser to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, had given his permission toe submit the book to magazines for bids on serialization rights. Mr. Seigenthaler says this is incorrect. He says he only wanted to reassure Mr. Man-chester that the book could some day be published.
