VIOLENCE EVERY SUNDAY

The Story of a Professional Football Coach

By Mike Holovak with Bill McSweeney. The 1966 AFL Coach of the Year (Boston Patriots) tells the high voltage inside story of the world of pro football. "Captures the full flavor of...the greatest sport of them all."—George S. Halas, Coach of the Chicago Bears. 30 action photos. $4.95

CHRISTOPHER AND HIS FATHER

By Hans Habe. The author of The Mission dramatizes the conflict of generations in Germany today. "A brilliant novel...held me spellbound."—Otto Preminger. "In the tradition of Goethe and Thomas Mann."—N.Y. Times Book Review. $6.95

THE VIEW FROM LENIN HILLS

Soviet Youth in Ferment

By William Taubman. A firsthand report on Russia's future leaders by an American who studied at Moscow University. "It told me exactly what I wanted to know about the youngsters who are being coached to take over in Russia...I hope it gets read by the youngsters who take over here."—Rex Stout. $5.50

AMERICA HURRAH

By Jean-Claude van Itallie. With an introduction by Robert Brustein. "Van Itallie conveys an especially timely sensation, that of a world of fragmented experience speeded up past human endurance...Anguishingly funny, yet oddly poignant, and more than passing wise in the ways of today's world." — Time Magazine. Paper $2.50; Cloth $4.95

HMS LEVIATHAN

By John Winton. "Nothing short of superb...if there is any other author today writing about the Navy with anything approaching Mr. Winton's authority, conviction and wit, it would come as a very considerable surprise to me." — Alistair MacLean, author of HMS Ulysses. "A realistic adventure story." — N.Y. Times Book Review. $5.95

ADVANTAGE ASHE

By Arthur Ashe, Jr. with Clifford George Gewecke. "Arthur Ashe is the first Negro to reach big-time tennis... His road to the top has been particularly hard... his achievements are noteworthy—the book can be recommended on this alone, as an inspiration to all young people (or adults)." — Library Journal. Photos. $4.95

THE FRAIL OCEAN

By Wesley Marx. How we are destroying our beaches, our estuaries—even the seas themselves. "Fascinating and important. The obvious comparison is with Rachel Carson's Silent Spring, and I can only hope Mr. Marx's book will be as widely read, and have a comparable impact." — N.Y. Times Book Review. Illustrated. $5.95
