

KLIF - The Fateful Hours

On tape, side I, 206': 12.45 p.m., interview of motorcycle policeman J.M. Chaney. "On the first shot we thought it was a motorcycle backfire. I looked to my left and so did President Kennedy, looking back over his left shoulder, and when the second shot struck him in the face then we knew someone was shooting at the President.

Q: When you saw the bullet hit him, what did he do?

A: He slumped forward in the car. He fell forward in the seat there.

.....

Q: Did you see where the bullet came from or did you see the man with the gun?

A: No, all I knew it came over my right shoulder."

Side II, 89':

(No time given; interview follows tape recording of swearing in of President Johnson.) Interview of Mrs. Earlene Roberts. "/Oswald/ rushed in in his shirtsleeves and got a short coat and went back out."

115':

"He come in, got a short white coat and went on back out in a hurry and when I looked out the window he was standing at a bus stop - there's a bus stop here at the door.

Q: Waiting for a bus?

A: I suppose so, but I didn't see him board a bus."
