Testimony Is Heard Here On Kennedy Boy's Mugging

A young man accused of mugging John F. Kennedy Jr. told the police he had sold the boy's bike to buy two bags of cocaine, a policeman testified at a pretrial hearing Wednesday.

Detective Richard Buggy quoted Robert Lopez, 20 years old, as saying: "I mugged John Kennedy" without recognizing the victim.

Detective Buggy said Mr. Lopez had told this story after walking into the 23d Precinct station on July 25, saying he had picked young Kennedy, 13, as "an easy hit" as he walked in Central Park May 14. He went up to young Kennedy with a tree branch in his hand, took the boy's bicycle and tennis racket, and then told him, "Get out of here."
