LOS ANGELES AP - A sullen, anonymous young gunman shot down Sen. Robert F. Kennedy early today at the moment of victory in the California primary election that boomed his prospects of following his assassinated brother in the presidency.

Six neurosurgeons struggled in a lengthy and delicate operation to remove a .22 calibre pistol slug from the brain of the critically wounded, unconscious senator from New York.

After an hour and a half of surgery, life signs were reported good, with strong pulse, blood pressure and respiration, but one to two hours of additional surgery were indicated.

The senator, whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, was assassinated by a rifleman in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, was shot shortly after midnight.

He had just made a triumphant talk to 2,000 cheering supporters in the Ambassador Hotel.

After a slow count, he had seized the victory over Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in the race for California's 174 Democratic convention votes.

Of eight shots fired, one bullet lodged in Kennedy's brain and another caused a superficial shoulder wound.

Five other persons were wounded in varying degrees.
