

Kennedy Case Figure Kills Herself

Los Angeles

The girl once believed to be the mysterious woman in the polka dot dress in the Robert Kennedy assassination case committed suicide in an East Los Angeles motel overnight, police said yesterday.

Kathy Fulmer, 33, scratched in lipstick on the motel mirror, "Lord, you gave me a mountain and I loved to climb" before taking an overdose of sleeping pills, police said.

Miss Fulmer, a topless dancer in a local night club, came forward soon after the Kennedy assassination in June, 1968, when the police issued a bulletin for a woman in a white dress with black polka dots.

She was released after questioning. Police felt she had turned herself in to get publicity. Another woman was finally identified as the one in the polka dot dress.
