
Jane Fonda Too Much For Students

Boone, N.C.

About half the 3500 students at Appalachian State University walked out on actress Jane Fonda Thursday night during her criticism of "the establishment."

Another 25 ROTC students stalked out when she criticized the military and advocated the elimination of ROTC programs in colleges.

Miss Fonda said President Nixon should be impeached and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew indicted for crossing state lines to incite riots.

"We must not trust anyone," said Miss Fonda, whose appearance was sponsored by the university's artists and lecture series. "It is only our lives and future that are at stake."
