

Red Probers' View of the Assassination

Washington

The House Un-American Activities Committee blames the assassination of President Kennedy on the propaganda and agitation campaigns of the Communist party.

At the same time, the committee, in its annual report released yesterday, said it takes no position on the question of "whether the assassination of President Kennedy was an individual act or the work of conspiracy."

The widely accepted theory in official Washington is that Lee Harvey Oswald, although a self-proclaimed Marxist, was a loner who acted out of his own aberrations when he fired the bullets.

A Presidential commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren is expected to announce that conclusion next month.

But the House committee constantly emphasized Oswald's Communist background as it discussed the murder and demanded that Congress pass a law making the assassination of a president or vice president a federal crime.
