

Denver Post

Johnson Gets Bill on Rifle

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate has approved and sent to President Johnson a bill authorizing the government to acquire the rifle used to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Under the measure's terms, the attorney general would designate the weapon and any other assassination - linked items considered as necessary for the national interest.

Claimants then would have one year in which to file for compensation.