Jack Ruby Appeals to High Court

Washington

Counsel for Jack Ruby appealed to the Supreme Court yesterday to overturn his conviction as the slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Ruby "has not had the remotest semblance of a fair trial," the appeal said.

Ruby was sentenced to execution in a state court in Dallas March 14, 1964.

The Texas Civil Liberties Union and a group of private attorneys filed the appeal, basing it on the complaint that the trial judge, Joe B. Brown, planned to write a book about the case. Texas state courts refused a writ of habeas corpus requested by counsel on the same grounds.
