

Hughes Reported In Acapulco

Acapulco, Mexico

Millionaire recluse Howard Hughes slipped into this Pacific Coast resort under the cover of darkness yesterday and took over an entire floor at one of Acapulco's most luxurious hotels, sources close to Acapulco's tourism industry said.

Hughes flew in from the Bahamas at 3:30 a.m. aboard a private jet, the sources said.

From the airport, he was driven to the Hotel Acapulco Princess — about two miles away and about eight miles east of downtown Acapulco.

The reservations manager at the hotel, which has about 16 floors, denied Hughes was staying there.

For the past two years Hughes has been reported occupying the entire floor of a hotel in Freeport, Bahamas, but hotel officials there would never confirm this.
