New London, Conn.

Acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray, 56, was hospitalized yesterday after an attack of abdominal pains at his home in nearby Stonington.

John W. Hushen, a spokesman for the Justice Department, said that Gray is undergoing "observations and tests."

The Justice Department said Gray has a history of abdominal troubles.

When he was serving in the Navy during World II, he suffered a ruptured appendix and did not receive prompt medical attention. Ever since, Gray has had abdominal problems.
