

WILKINS WON'T CALL FOR HOOVER OUSTER

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said yesterday he did not think that J. Edgar Hoover's "intemperate language" against the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. warranted his dismissal.

Mr. Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, called the civil rights leader "the most notorious liar in the country" in a dispute over the conduct of civil rights cases by Southern F.B.I. agents in Albany, Ga.

Appearing on the Columbia Broadcasting Company's television and radio program "Face the Nation," Mr. Wilkins said that the N.A.A.C.P. had not asked for Mr. Hoover's dismissal "because he has a long and distinguished career."

He said Mr. Hoover was "a good public servant" but was "simply wrong" in this instance. Mr. Wilkins added, however, that "the truth of the matter is that 99 per cent of the Negro citizens of this country believe that the attention they received from the F.B.I. in the Southern struggle has been, say, less than satisfactory."

Mr. Wilkins said in answer to questions that he thought the civil rights movement would resort less often to demonstrations as a result of the passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.
