

Associated Press

Clyde A. Tolson, Associate Director of the F.B.I. and close personal friend of J. Edgar Hoover, walking his usual respectful step behind the chief during an investigation in 1942. Mr. Tolson, like Mr. Hoover a bachelor, was part of Mr. Hoover's strict schedule, and had lunch and dinner with him six times a week beginning in 1920's.