The Warren Report ... was selling "phenomenally" after it went on sale at three outlets today, the Government Printing Office reported.

The GPO disclosed that 25 to 27 further volumes, containing the full testimony and exhibits on which the 888-page report was based, may be ready in six to eight weeks. In sets only, they will sell for $75 to $100 a set.

A handful of buyers had clustered in the rain outside the GPO's barnlike brick building at 6:30 a.m., an hour and a half before sales began this morning.

They were the advance guard of a day-long stream of purchases, some of whom lugged away as many as 25 copies apiece. Many bought the hard-bound, blue-covered edition bearing the Presidential seal, at $3.25. Most were content with the fat paperback at $2.50.

"It's a phenomenal sale," said R.E. Darling, assistant to the Superintendent of Documents. "It is surpassing that of the Surgeon General's Committee's report on smoking and health."

Two other GPO outlets, in the Commerce and State Department buildings, had been stocked in the middle of the night. By 11 a.m. they had been restocked three times and a fourth replenishment was being trucked to them.

The original printing order of 50,000 was boosted to 70,000 while the presses were running, then to 110,000. Darling said the GPO would continue printing the book as long as the public demand lasts.

The 25 or more supplementary volumes still to come, he said, will consist of about 15 volumes of hearing transcripts, 3 volumes of exhibits, and additional volumes of depositions, reports and other materials.
