

Reynolds Offers Aid To Johnson

Wisconsin's Gov. Reynolds telephoned President Johnson Sunday to offer to help the new president "in any way he could" and to pledge Mr. Johnson his full support.

Both Reynolds and Patrick J. Lucey, immediate past state Democratic chairman, and their wives, are in Washington for the funeral of the late President Kennedy.

Both couples visited the capitol rotunda to pay their last respects to the late president. The Luceys and Reynolds were personal friends of Mr. Kennedy.

Lucey also spoke to President Johnson by phone.

Both Lucey and Reynolds became friendly with Mr. Johnson when he was vice-president. Lucey personally extended the invitation last February that brought Mr. Johnson, then vice-president, to Milwaukee to speak at a $100 a plate Jefferson-Jackson day dinner last May.
