

12/20/71- Dear both, I hope your silence means you are about to return from the dark side of the moon, not that you are unwell...
Today Show this a.m. had the daughter of Captain Villa. She said what I'd not seen in the papers, that that her father had been working regularly in N.O. and had planned only three trips on the Johnny Express, after which he would have returned to his regular job in N.O.
I have learned that these right-wing Cubans are a strange lot, that the farout things they do are not necessarily indicative of what they seem to be. Yet these are such strange circumstances, I hope you will be observant in reading the N.O. papers on this. There is something familiar about the name of the ships' owners, the Babun brothers, but that part of my files is without index or carding, so all I can say is that the name is familiar. Please do not go to any special trouble on this unless something of significance appears in the papers. ...Castro's unusual violation of what I understand to be international law seems to indicate he is absolutely certain about the activities of these ships and their owners. It seems not to have been a hot-pursuit capture...The daughter gave a different account of the ship's trip than the papers. She said Haiti and included electronic equipment in its cargo...Little new.
Started writing again yesterday and completed the new last chapter of the panel part of POST MORTEM.
...Spent some time with official Egyptian Embassy Sat, night at friend's Xmas party in DC. I found his attitude on women more irreconcilable than on international relations, including Israel. I was surprised at the anti-Soviet attitude he didn't rouble to hide. He claims Egypt has already paid for the Aswam Dam, which I found surprising. He thinks concubinage is a good thing, esp. for women. His wife, and exceptionally beautiful woman by Hollywood standards, was silent whenever I saw her and was not with him once during the entire night, a long one. Nor did he once s seek her out...A British diplomat introduced to Lil in terms of my writing made a strange crack about his experience as a hunter and how easy a shot it was from that window.

He seems to think he did something important by going to Dealey Plaza.
Later, after Lil told me, I invited him to shoot my Mannlicher-Carcano.
He understood and said he had fired the Japanese WWII rifle. I decided to needle him a bit about England allowing US govt to confiscate all the Ray extradition records. Instead of getting defensive or even j justifying, he said merely that he was sure Chief Magistrate Milton, a canny one, had kept copies! Best, HW
