11/7-FLASH! ACID TEST PASSED!

Yup, a Chinese friend dropped in this p.m. While I was talking with her husband, one of the pair mentioned in the poor copy of my letter to Jerry, where the stupidity and the needless daring is marked - he is the Jim, a young lawyer, and that was Madison - she looked at the blanket and it was clear to her, Ma. So, at least this one little thing you'll not have to concern yourself with. Your design and Bill's execution of it are ok. At least, can be read.

Whaddaya think of the Senate Judiciary Committee sending me a telegram in the country on a Sunday with a 5 p.m. Monday deadline of "a written statement of proposed testimony" to be in their hands? I think maybe they are not anxious. I'll help them by getting it there but not asking to testify, for my interest is in having it considered, if that is what they do, and in the record, so it can be cited. HW
