8/13--Before getting back to the Ray work I feel I must finish, a question for when you have time: are the cassette head cleaners unshazardous and are they ok? And have you had experience with the Sony patchcords for direct dubbing? Lesar got one from a Sony dealer in DC and we used it from my TC40 to Bud's (also 6v) Sony, both having automatic input volume controls, and regardless of variations in the output of the TC 40 volume, the result was blasting and uselessness. Don't do anything special on this, but if you have knowledge of the cleaner, whenever you write; and on the patchcord, whenever you talk to your dependable man. Thanks HW
