

18 June 1972

Dear Harold:

No time to answer a number of good letters from you, or even to make and assemble copies of other stuff we want to send you. But this weekend we were able to get two jobs for you out of the way, and they're enclosed. In haste only, more later.

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to be 'J. D. W.', written in dark ink.

jdw