(NO) The March 72 issue of WIN magazine has what is said to be the complete Media, Pa. rip-off of the FBI files. If you want it and don't have it and can't or don't want to go to the trouble of getting a copy, let me know. I can provide xeroxes. I have just begun to read them 5/21 while awaiting overdue company. I have not yet gotten to the meat. Just finished the intro, which is such delicacies as hot or cold borscht in an anecdote that ends with the four-letter word in which such things, inevitably, do end. HW

Eagle-eyes, aka Limpy, aka ever-lovin', noted a Post rewrite of a wire story on contributions to Wallace campaigns, including Leander Perez and members of his family. If you see anything on this, I'd much appreciate. The FBI seems to have had suspicions re him King case. Post story includes ref to contribution by "Branch Pilots". No such listing 12/67 NO phone book. Thanks,

HW

Still digging out!

5/22-CBS' and NBC's coverage or Moscow on the evening news were not identical. On CBS, which made even more clear the Peking parallel, our Glorious Leader looked as though the ghosts of Helen Gahagan Douglas and Jerry Voorhis had just risen. Never have I seen a less smiley smile. It was artificial, forced and sickly. What happened between him and Brezhnev, who looked solidly content, we can't yet know. But the "complete" satisfaction voiced by the White House staff makes me wonder whose? Nixon is the master of the infelt smilt. I am inclined to read much into this. HW
