Re Barker suit,
in case you a) are an old lady and b) forget.

If ladies are anything like men, this one
is learning
fast too much about

Possibly. More likely: you've heard how forgetful old ladies are?
I've checked, this is an extra,
so keep it and throw away the copy.

You sent this and a copy.
Is there such a thing as being too good, too kind and generous?

On a more
impudent note, does it
not depend on who is pointing at whom whether or not it is rude, or only rude? Or How one points. And (sigh!) at what age?

Don't POINT! That's RUDE!
