

JAN 15 1973
I find it interesting that with all the developments of the past couple of days and its own 60 record on the WG story, the first news section of the Post has no mention of it today and does have two long stories on the front page both of which properly belong in its Sunday editorial section, Outlook. Between them they are a page and a half long. The Nixon interview and the Ziegler pieces. HW 1/14/73

No WG mention entire paper. Radio quotes NYTimes as saying Miami defendants still getting $100 or more a week, source not indicted, of the money or by the Times.

JAN 15 1973 1 5 19:
Js, HR, This morning's Post has a full-page Saul Pett AP interview with Nixon on the Third Day of 60 Bombing you may want to read. I presume most papers carried it but have no way of knowing if they or the Post carried all. I did not take time to read the VN stories but I did for this and another by Jules Witcover on Ran Ziegler, also in minor ways informative. I found the Pett piece of some interest, the kind I'd like to have a good and politically-wise shrink, if there be such, read and reread. I marked it as I read it for my own future use. Perhaps I'd mark it otherwise after having read all of it.... Not that I have no interest in the VN stories. I saw K on TV last night and not a single/dry, almost ashamed dry coughs. I think this says much more than his words can. Almost a new Henry.
The Pett piece probably says more about it without any direct reference, in what it says of Nixon, including the lies Pett probably did not fail to detect and the honest, unintended self-characterizations. HW 1/14/73
